

ABSTRACT

Provided is a method of detecting a nucleic acid, which enables simple, high-efficiency, and high-precise detection of various genes and may be widely utilized in the fields on the basis of gene detection. Provided is a method of detecting a nucleic acid, which enables a solid-phase universal PCR, solid-phase multiplex PCR, or solid-phase universal multiplex PCR using a nucleic acid array.